

SAYN: Day Four

In the first part of the working meeting, we were divided into two groups. One group discussed job shadowing and activities they would like us to do in Lebanon. The other group discussed the technical details for making a documentary, which is to be produced by Vere Montis.

Job Shadowing

We listened carefully to Paolo's job training presentation, learning from his experience as an educator. Job shadowing is a type of learning used to onboard new employees into an organisation or new role. In this informal type of work experience, we observed Paolo's role and tried to understand how he performs his job. This gave us insight into the role of a project manager and reflected on our own practices. For example, one participant noted, "I learned a great deal about how to present and how to make people interested in the topic you present, and I really enjoyed participating in job shadowing."

Meeting Task

We were tasked with writing down what we would like to do and experience in Lebanon. We each noted our expectations, objectives, and suggested activities, which we then summarised together. We brainstormed for the documentary and shared constructive suggestions for the next meeting in the partner country. One representative presented each objective to the group.

In the second part of the day, we travelled to another part of Amman for two activities on a sports field, led by the Croatian and Italian teams. These sports activities engaged us in active, constructive, intentional, authentic, and cooperative ways.

Sport Activities

Paolo led a sports activity with a ball on the field, which provided valuable learning experiences about delivering solutions in high-stress situations. When the ball came to a person, it was necessary to quickly deliver a solution while interacting with others.

Croatian Team Presentation

Our Croatian team presented a softball game. We set up the playing field, explained the rules, and played the game. This activity further engaged us in a collaborative and physical exercise, enhancing our teamwork and problem-solving skills.
